

Harvest Moon

Legend has it:

You are the most colorful moon of the year.
You are a cosmic chrysanthemum pacing the seasons,
You are lucky to those with superstitious reasons.

Legend has it:

Your light is a curse to those who sleep beneath you.
You turn grapes into wine and heat into frost,
You watch as the leaves are blown and tossed.

Legend has it:

You are often the color of cat eyes in the dark.
You are the reflection of winter's icy trance,
You are alluring to witchcraft and autumn's last dance.

Legend has it:

You are whispered to be the blood moon.
You illuminate the silhouette of bats or an owl,
You amplify the werewolf's ghoulis howl.

Legend has it:

You are hallowed ground for Diana, Selene, Artemis, Hecate.
You are eerie yellow, rust orange, shadowed maroon.
You are the October harvest moon.
